Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Dr. John S. Helmcken sends word to Mr. Sandy McSkirvin, and to the McDonalds, the Olliphants, the Mathesons, the Campbells, the Monroes, and the McKays, and I am sure Alex Brownridge would include the McWhannels, that there will be a gathering at Forest Lawn Memorial park on Sunday, May 22, at 1 o'clock p. m., to attend a service sponsored by the Order of Scottish Clans and the Council of British Societies of Southern California, and that if I would say a word for the Clansmen the clan might become so extravagant as to offer up a prayer for my recovery. The beautiful baritone voice of John Lambert will be heard from the Wee Kirk o' the Heather as well as an inspiring talk by J. Wiseman McDonald and the British Consul at Los Angeles, The Pacific Coast network on the Mutual broadcasting system will carry the program for thirty minutes, and a hookup with the Canadian chain is anticipated. Five thousand people are expected to participate in the service. Pipe bands, both male and female, will be present as well as bands from the Canadian Legion posts. Parade starts at 12:00 from the Tam o' Shanter Inn on Los Feliz boulevard, and Helmcken hopes I'll be in fit condition to march with the clan McSkirvin from Galashiels and to bring my pipes along. By Golly, that's expecting a lot of a fellow whose pipes haven't been workin' for several weeks, but I could ride.

Bill Deimling is home from a trip into the Oregon country, and reports rainfall of some 72 inches in one section and 115 in another, which to my way of thinking is much rain and sort o' takes away some of the pride from our flood.

The only trouble with my boils is that I haven't enough of them to try all the remedies.

Hunter Leach slides in the side door to make a flatbed inspection for the police department, George Jeffrey tries the main entrance and wants to talk about oranges, St. Fluor discusses corned beef and Terry Skirvin money. Have a vague recollection of Terry's subject, but an inventory disclosed I didn't have very much conversation left. Jeffrey's topic was nearer to my heart, and when he isn't on a tanker or a steamer he can talk oranges and their accompanying vicissitudes. St. put in a few words for water coolers, and digressed long enough to relate an experience about service clubs and the time he had Bill Deimling talk on "Relativity." Sent Bill to Pasadena for special instruction. On the day of the meeting Deimling offered such an array of scientific data and correlative harmony that his club associates were amazed and stupefied. At the conclusion of his address St. commented favorably upon Bill's skillful presentation of the subject, saying it was so plain that anyone could understand it, and asked all who could not to stand. Not a soul arose, and St. fined the whole bunch a dollar apiece for lying, as Deimling purposely distorted the facts. That's a good way to make money, but it's mighty embarrassing for the audience.

There is something unusual about the results of the Pennsylvania election. It was satisfactory to both sides. Now you tell one.

I am never so much interested in these inquiries as to why airplane accidents happened, as I would be in some proceeding to prevent them happening. It still remains obvious that a mountain isn't going to move out of the path of a low flying airplane.

Native Sons of the Golden West held a convention recently in San Jose. What I wanted to find out was omitted from the report. How

J. C. GOES SPANISH FOR A DAY

Santa Ana acquired a brilliant, Spanish holiday atmosphere this morning and afternoon as the Junior college staged its eleventh annual fiesta preceded by a spectacular parade. Scores of brightly attired students, fifty of Orange county's finest horses, a dozen or more floats and three bands comprised the parade this morning.

Riding near the head of the procession was Governor Frank Merriam. He was in a stage coach with Mayor Fred C. Rowland, Councilman Plummer Bruns, Joe Smith, William Penn, E. H. Layton, Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson, Director D. K. Hammond of the junior college and Dean Calvin Flint.

The governor briefly addressed the hundreds of persons attending the fiesta this afternoon on the topic of early California history. Organizations entering the parade included ten Santa Ana Junior college service clubs, and the El Rodeo Riding club. A number of brilliantly mounted saddle horses were entered by Mrs. Ward. The junior college, the NYA and the Blue-Note accordion bands participated.

This afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, a colorful program was staged on the lawn in front of the junior college. The entertainment opened with the ceremony of crowning Bob Reif as don and Marjorie Kenyon as dona of the fiesta to preside over the festivities. Father Joseph Thompson O. F. M. was in charge of the coronation.

Dick Phillips, president of the associated students, presented the welcoming address to the visiting seniors and this was followed by the introduction of ten former dons and donas by Director Hammond.

Governor Merriam spoke next. Edward Velarde was in charge of awarding prizes to students and organizations winning awards in connection with the fiesta and parade. Results of the essay contests were made known early this afternoon. James Bartlett took

Millions Asked as Cotton Aid Result

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress today for $94,285,404 "to provide for the restoration of the capital impairment of the commodity credit corporation."

The corporation needs the money, said John D. Goodloe, its vice president, because of losses on price-boistering loans to growers of 1934 and 1937 cotton.

Goodloe said the corporation now holds 1,770,000 bales of 1934 cotton on which it made loans at 12 cents a pound, the market price prevailing at that time, Goodloe said. This was lower than the loan rate on the 1934 cotton and much of the 1937 loan cotton.

SENATORS UP RELIEF FUND TWO HELD IN WARREN CASE

WASHINGTON (AP)—A senate appropriations sub-committee decided tentatively today to increase from $1,250,000,000 to $1,425,000,000 the work relief appropriation in the administration's spending bill.

Charles Adams (D., Colo.) said that the increase would finance the WPA for eight months instead of seven.

The house voted $1,250,000,000 to carry on work relief from July 1 to next Feb. 1. Adams told reporters the sub-committee thought it desirable to provide funds for an additional month in order that the next session of congress would have more time in which to make a supplemental WPA appropriation.

Adams said that the committee had reached the tentative decision to increase WPA funds in a preliminary survey of the relief bill this morning.

'AFFAIR OF HONOR' LEAVES QUARREL UNSETTLED Playwrights Duel In Paris

PARIS (AP)—Edouard Bourdet, director of La Comedie Francaise, was wounded in the right arm today by Henry Bernstein, veteran playwright and duelist, in an "affair of honor" that failed to settle their quarrel.

The principals left the dueling field without reconciliation. The attending physician said the wound was not serious.

The duel, with dull-edged but needle-pointed epees, took place on an estate at suburban Neuilly and consisted of two two-minute periods of fighting for which Bernstein, adjudged the injured party, chose the weapons.

At the end of the second two-minute period the referee sighted

CEDILLO TO OPEN WAR ON CARDENAS

SAN LUIS POTOSI, Mex. (AP)—Slow-talking quick-moving ex-army general, Saturnino Cedillo spread his peasant army into the hills today to prepare for guerrilla warfare with the army of President Lazaro Cardenas.

He would not start it but he was ready with arms to repel "all aggression," said Cedillo, 45-year-old Mexican Indian, rightist political opponent of Cardenas and for 20 years the dominant power of San Luis.

Cedillo was plotting rebellion, charged Cardenas, 42-year-old radical leader of the nation's program of socialization of "Mexico for Mexicans" which was exemplified on March 18 by government expropriation of foreign-owned oil properties.

Their dispute was that between the right and the left, and many feared that if fighting began it might spread through the nation and make of Mexico another Spain.

The Cedillistas fixed their number at 18,000 to 20,000. Cardenas, invading San Luis in person to establish calm, had 10,000 troops in the state. Two regiments of cavalry were on the way from Chihuahua, 10 observation-combat planes landed here yesterday, and probably 20,000 troops could be brought quickly from nearby states.

Cedillo said he had "trustworthy" information the president was preparing to "try to crush me by force of arms" and that attack might come today. He kept to his vast Palomas estate near here with less than a dozen men last night, but his peasant force had taken to hills and Cedillo was ready to follow.

Bitterly, the leader of Mexico's last important private army, whose fealty he held by land allotments on his estate, denied he plotted rebellion.

He saw himself as the victim of efforts by his enemies to destroy him, carried on since his resignation as secretary of agriculture in a tilt with Cardenas last August.

Overholt said the investigators are checking a statement purportedly made by Miller that he had an opportunity to rent a room in East Bakersfield for $6 a month from an elderly railroad man who was well to do and rented houses. He said Miller is supposed to have stated the unidentified householder lived alone and wanted someone to move in and keep him company.

Victim, Kin In Mystery

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Search for the grave of a wealthy Los Angeles widow continued today under the guidance of her son-in-law, who police said confessed to having killed her.

Two motives—revenge and money—were advanced by officers for the slaying of Mrs. Leona May Schmidt, 59, although they have yet to find her body.

Detective Lieut. Frank Ryan said Valian Neil Ross, 39-year-old insurance man, admitted he shot his mother-in-law last March 9 and buried her in a shallow grave on the Mojave desert near Lancaster.

A cross of mesquite twigs, "not in honor of her but of my wife," marked the bleak spot, Ryan said.

Thirty officers and newspapermen combed the desert area yesterday without finding a grave, but the search was augmented by additional men today.

Other officers, meanwhile, learned that Mrs. Schmidt left an estate valued at more than $250,000 and they planned to open a safety deposit box in a Los Angeles bank in search for her jewels.

They were informed she once had a $5000 postal savings account and a $3000 bank account in San Bernardino.

Rail Workers Threaten Tieup If Wages Are Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Railroad labor unions added a threat of a nationwide strike today to efforts of administration senators to prevent rail lines from putting a 15 per cent wage cut into effect July 1.

The Railway Labor Executives association, charging in a statement that the roads had "double-crossed" their employees, asserted a strike would be the "only ultimate result" if the railroads pressed their $250,000 wage reduction program.

Senate opposition to the cut crystallized in withdrawal yesterday of a committee approved bill to make more liberal RFC loans available to the carriers.

BILL HELD UP

Democratic Leader Rayburn said the bill would not be considered at this time because of the senate dispute about pay cuts. Other leaders said they saw no point in house action on the legislation until after the senate situation is clarified.

The senate returned the measure to its banking committee at the request of Chairman Wagner (D., N. Y.), who said there had been "no discussion" of the wage cut proposal at the time the bill had been considered.

Wagner told reporters that several committee members wanted to include a no-wage-cut stipulation in the legislation.

Administration leaders, weighing the potential effects of a rail strike, welcomed the probability that procedure under the railway labor act would delay a showdown at least until fall.

The Labor Executives' association said the Brotherhood would "observe, as they always have, the railway labor act in their effort to prevent this unjustified raid on railroad employees' pay envelopes."

It added, however, that "if the railroad men can be convinced that a wage reduction is not only unjustified, but is absolutely dangerous to the economic structure of the nation, it will be necessary for the railroad employees to use their economic strength to save the railroad industry from committing social suicide and dragging other industries along with it."

Speakers said the resolution would place all harbors under domination of the government.

Britain Steps Into Quarrel Between Italy, France Over Spain

WITHDRAWAL ALIEN TROOPS, LONDON'S AIM

LONDON. (AP)—Great Britain today called a meeting of the non-intervention committee for May 26 in an effort to settle the French-Italian quarrel over foreign participation in the Spanish civil war.

The meeting was called after a series of conferences between the Earl of Plymouth, British chairman of the committee, and the ambassadors of France, Italy, Germany, Czechoslovakia and Soviet Russia.

At the same time, France's minister of justice, Paul Reynaud, conferred with British Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax. They discussed a long report from Lord Perth, British ambassador to Italy.

Britain hopes by calling the committee meeting to expedite the procedure by which France would close the Pyrenees frontier temporarily while a non-intervention commission arranges for withdrawal of foreign fighters from Spain.

In this action it is hoped the way will be smoothed for a French-Italian friendship agreement on the same basis as the Anglo-Italian accord.

Meanwhile, the British government fought off opposition political attacks on its foreign policy.

Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, said in the house of commons last night that Italy "fully and fairly" had kept her "Anglo-Italian" friendship agreement pledges.

He denied opposition charges that Premier Mussolini had "materially" increased his aid to Spanish insurgents and defended the British government's attitude on Spain and recognition of Italy's Ethiopian conquest.

Kingsley Griffith, opposition liberal, declared Italy's attitude on non-intervention in Spain was "humbug."

"We who depend so much on the Mediterranean are to give another power (Italy) the right to dictate exactly what form of government is to exist in Spain," he said. "That is permission we did not grant Napoleon, who was a far greater man than Mussolini."

The Laborite Daily Herald keynoted one phase of the opposition attack against the government in the three-cornered Anglo-French-Italian negotiations.

"Always France is haunted by a fear that the 'Nationalist' (Chamberlain) government will desert it if it (France) stands firm," the paper said in an editorial. "It is a wonder that the French don't see that at bottom Britain cannot desert them."

It has made an alliance with France for the good and simple reason that defense of France is essential to the security of Britain, that once France were crushed Britain would be helpless."

Labor demands for further cabinet changes were encouraged by a remark of Baron Maugham, 72-year-old lord chancellor, who told the house of lords "I have occupied this plane only a short time and it may be I shall not very much longer continue to keep it."

The laborites attached great significance to the statement, but the pro-government press passed it off lightly by calling attention to Lord Maugham's age.

KILLER OF NEVER-DIE MAN FREED

JESSELTON, North Borneo.—(American Wire) Tongit Ra, 45-year-old lumber worker, today was free to go back to the jungle acquitted of cutting off the head of a stranger with a kris-knife.

The stranger came into the camp where Tongit Ra and other natives were working, and announced that he—Tongit Ra—was a "never-die man" from the hills.

In Borneo legends, these "never-die men" are powerful jungle creatures who can't be killed. The stranger demanded food clothing and entertainment, and moved in on the credulous natives.

Tongit Ra was a skeptic, however. After two days of obedience to the arrogant stranger, Tongit Ra asked him: "You say you can't be killed?"

"No man can harm me!" boasted the stranger.

"We'll see, Tongit Ra said quietly—and swish!—he swung his kris, lopping off the stranger's head.

The man very definitely was not a "never-die man."

A jury here heard the evidence in the murder trial of Tongit Ra. After hearing dozens of natives swear their belief in "never-die men," the jury decided the stranger asked for what he got, and acquitted Tongit Ra.

She estimated that 180,000 wage earners had been dropped from their jobs since mid-March. During the same period, she said at a press conference, the weekly disbursement of factory payrolls declined $5,600,000.

PRESIDENT ASKS CONSERVATION OF PHOSPHATES

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt recommended today a congressional study of the nation's life giving phosphate supply with a view of shaping a policy covering both domestic consumption and exports.

In a message stressing that this chemical is necessary to all forms of life—human, animal and plant, Mr. Roosevelt declared it was "high time for the nation to adopt a national policy for the production and conservation of phosphates for the benefit of this and coming generations."

The nation's principal phosphate deposits, he advised, are in the Rocky mountain states centering around Idaho, and in Florida and Tennessee with small deposits in a few other southern states. So far the principal production has come from the relatively limited Florida and Tennessee supplies, while the vast deposits of the west remained little developed.

The recommendations for a study by a joint senate-house committee indicated the possibility that emphasis may be placed in future on development of the western deposits and that there may be undertaken some revision of the nation's phosphate export policies.

The chief executive put much stress on the fact that "the very large percentage of known phosphate rock," probably about three quarters of the whole supply is on government owned land.

He also underscored his assertion "that the eastern supply, while in private ownership, is today being exported in such quantities that when and if it is wholly depleted, eastern farms will have to depend for their phosphate supply on the far western lands."

The judges awarded prizes as follows to the participants of the parade: First place for the most attractive silver saddle, Mrs. Margaret Klam; first in men's plain, C. MacBeth; second in men's plain, F. W. Waer; first in the western plain group, B. Whitehead; first in the silver western group, H. Merrell. Mrs. Frank Waer will receive first prize for the most beautiful Spanish costume.

The from the stage on the campus wards were made by Roy Potter lawn this afternoon.

A comedy act, entitled "The Spanish Onions" furnished high taking part included Wally Grigg comedy to those present. Those and Russ Haney. The women's gym classes, under the direction of Mrs. Zena Leck, presented a series of Spanish dances.

The Orange county judo club gave an exhibition of Japanese wrestling, under the direction of Isamu Masuda. An amusing play, "Ferdinand the Bull," fashioned after the famous story book, was presented. Dialogue for the play was written by Mr. Phillips. Mary Perry and Rose Marie Flint furnished incidental music.

Sol Gonzalez and his Hacienda Troubadours furnished musical music throughout the afternoon. The junior college choruses, directed by Miss Myrtle Martin, rendered a number of lovely numbers.

At 4 p. m. today the guests were taken on a tour of the campus. Dinner will be served this afternoon at 5:15 o'clock to the graduating high school seniors. The hosts are junior college students.

And at about 6 o'clock an event, which several dozen young men have been waiting for over a period of several months, will materialize—the awarding of prizes for the best beads. Following this, prizes will be given for the most appropriate costumes.

At 8:15 this evening the junior college drama department will present the annual fiesta play, "Stage Door," at the high school auditorium. The production is under the direction of Ernest Crozier Phillips, assisted by Betty Jane Moore.

San Pedro Peace Plan in Discard

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—Another peace plan in the vexatious lift-board dispute between longshoremen and waterfront employers went into the discard today.

Employers proposed use of liftboards on the Matson line docks to handle cargo not being loaded directly into a ship from freight cars. They also asked for restricted liftboard work on the McCormick and American-Hawaiian docks.

Twenty-five hundred longshoremen voted last night to continue their stand that car loaders, under a union agreement, could not use liftboards for indirect loading.

Quints' Earnings to Build New Home for Entire Family

NORTH BAY, Ont. (Canadian Press)—Papa Oliva and Mamma, the Quints and the seven other little Dionnes at last are to live under one roof as one family.

Thus will be ended the cause of much resentment by the senior Dionnes, who have wanted their famous five at home with their other children since the Quints became wards of the king and set up house in their own nursery.

"The Quints will be four years old May 28."

There now has begun "a new spirit of cooperation," said Father Dionne's attorney, who, with Judge J. A. Vallin, chairman of the quintuplet board of guardians, announced the projected set-up.

Plans are to be drafted at once for a new home at Corbiel, five miles north of the present home and the nursery at Callander. It will house all the Dionnes and should be ready by September.

Near millionaires with earnings from their movie and advertising contracts, the Quints are to pay for the new abode, which will be so constructed that it can be halved, to isolate them in the event of illness.

Dr. A. R. DaFoe, who helped bring the quintuplets into the world, will continue as their doctor and will hire their nurses, Duncan McArthur, deputy minister of education for Ontario, will supervise the addition of any teachers.

Father Dionne twice may force discharge of a nurse or teacher, but after that may only recommend dismissals to be acted upon by the other guardians.

Mexico to Lower U. S. Tariff Wall

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The commerce department announced today the Mexican government proposes to virtually repeal the steep increases in tariff duties which had seriously affected trade with the United States in recent months.

A cablegram from the American commercial attaché at Mexico City said Mexican Finance Minister Suarez sent to the Mexican congress two proposed decrees which would eliminate 166 of the 218 tariff increases imposed in January.

BANISH THE SMOOTH TIRE MENACE
REPLACE WORN TIRES WITH THE ONLY TIRES MADE THAT ARE TRIPLE-SAFE

LAST year more than 52,000 deaths and injuries were caused directly by punctures, blowouts and skidding due to smooth, worn, unsafe tires. A recent survey discloses that 59 million tires now in use are, or will become smooth during 1938. Protect yourself and family by making your car Triple-Safe with Firestone Triple-Safe Tires with this three-way protection —

1. Protection Against Blowouts. Firestone Tires run up to 28 degrees cooler, because every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process. This counteracts the internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.
2. Protection Against Punctures. Two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread add strength to the tire and give extra protection against punctures.
3. Protection Against Skidding. The scientific tread design gives longer non-skid mileage and stops your car up to 25% quicker.

Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign during National Tire Safety Week by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Triple-Safe Tires — the safest tires that money can buy.

Witt's winning film was called "The Temptress." Second award went to O. L. Jacobs, Tustin, for "Sunday at Home" and third place to Raymond Kent Harvey, Balboa Island, for "My Day."

ACTRESS' FATHER DIES

DENTON, Tex. (AP)—George W. Sheridan, 63, father of Ann Sheridan, Hollywood movie actress, died unexpectedly at his home here today.

FLOOD CONTROL MEASURE GOES BEFORE SENATE

Passage of a $375,000,000 national flood control program, embracing large-scale projects similar to the already-approved Prado dam in the Santa Ana river, was up to the United States senate today after winning house approval late yesterday.

The bill would authorize expenditure of $6,500,000 for immediate work on San Antonio and Chino creeks in San Bernardino, thus broadening the flood control program scheduled to benefit Orange county. Chief benefit of the San Bernardino projects would go to the Pomona-Upland district, army engineers reported, although Orange county would be helped indirectly by taking some of the mountain runoff into San Antonio and Chino creeks instead of into the Santa Ana river.

Providing for starting a vast system of reservoirs and river walls for projects totaling $375,000,000 during the next five years, the bill also will provide for other projects, selected on a basis of priority by the army engineers from a list of proposed works estimated to cost more than $1,000,000,000.

The measure would make one important change in the act of 1936: It would cut from 100 to 30 per cent the amount of local contributions for flood control reservoir property rights. It was not clearly understood here whether this provision would relieve Orange county of part of its expense on the Prado dam-site.

SCOVILL RULING UPHELD

A ruling by Superior Judge G. K. Scovill, sustaining a demurrer to a complaint for $2000 asserted by due on a New York bond, had been affirmed today by the fourth district court of appeal in a decision written by Justice E. J. Marks, former judge here.

The court's decision spelled defeat for Donald D. Sullivan, who sued Horace T. Shannon on the bond. Shannon filed a demurrer on grounds the action was barred by the statute of limitations, and it was sustained with leave for Sullivan to file an amended complaint. He declined to do this and appealed from the order.

Sullivan, the opinion held, should have alleged in his complaint that Shannon had been absent from California long enough to stop the statute of limitations from running, if he had; otherwise the action apparently was barred by that statute.

Boy Nabbed Under Pool Hall Rule

Violation of city ordinance 79, which prohibits anyone under 21 years of age from playing pool or loitering around a pool hall, led to the arrest of F. W. Winters, 210 North Ross street, by Santa Ana police yesterday. Seven minors were caught in the poolroom, and Winters was given a second warning. He posted $25 bail, with orders to appear at 10 a. m. Wednesday for a hearing before City Judge J. G. Mitchell.

MARY STODDARD

Anxious Swain Disconsolate, Girl to "Stag" It
To Banquet

"Mary, Mary, quite contrary... She's broken the hearts of adoring young swains since the beginning of time.

How can she be convinced? On the surface, that question sounds as simple as the innocent games of childhood, but when you actually put on your thinking cap to assist the disappointed young swain it seems to sort of revolve into that mysterious old query, "How old is Anne?"

My heart is touched by a letter from such a swain which found its way to my desk this morning and I wish I might give him a few inside tips as to how to convince "Contrary Mary" that she should attend their senior banquet with him—but alas, there's just one bright idea: If "Mary" could read her school friend's letter and know how happy her acceptance would make him might she not reconsider? Here's his plea:

Dear Miss Stoddard: You must be deluged with questions such as mine, but I assure you that mine is not a mere question but is a plea for your advice.

I am a boy 18 years of age and a senior at high school. We will soon hold our senior banquet and I have asked a certain girl if she would not go to the banquet with me. At first she said, "Maybe." Then after asking her again, she said that she would like the week to think it over. Yesterday she told me that she was going to "stag" the banquet with a number of other girls.

I like this girl very much, but I don't know whether to ask her again or what to do. If she would go with me my evening would be certainly a happy one.

I would so much appreciate your fair, kindly advice in my predicament. Sincerely, L. C.

In the sweet long ago, swains won the hearts and hands of their lady fair by persistence, going on the assumption that "faint heart ne'er won fair lady." But today, with women's rights, feminine careers and ladies who "bring home the bacon," it's a bit confusing, isn't it?

I'll tell you, "Anxious," you might just drop the girl a little note, telling her you really wish so very much she might change her mind, and if she does, would she let you know?

Personally, I do not think that it is because the girl does not want to accept your invitation, but because her girl chums are attending the banquet in a body and she would feel less conspicuous if she went along with them.

There's one way you can determine whether the girl wishes your friendship and that is to invite her to some other affair. Good luck.

MARY STODDARD.

THE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Here and There With Southern California Artists

By DONALD BUTTON

HORSES, HORSES

Fitting for Horse Show Week, indeed, are the water colors and prints Millard Sheets offers for exhibition at the library.

I once said that every picture contained therein had a horse or two in it, but have since been unable to discover even the suggestion of said animal in two of the prints.

Apart from that, there are three very elegant horses in the water color over the stair, two sophisticated prints of them, and a brush drawing (in rather Chinese manner) that I envy Dr. Alexander owning.

The "Red Barn" (a favorite subject with Claremont painters) has mood and vigor.

I favor the green landscape, although the brown and chartreuse hills are a close second.

Santa Ana should, I feel, consider herself highly honored with the Millard Sheets show coming at this time.

Recently honored at Chicago, the picture so honored is currently reproduced in Time magazine.

Sheets is this summer to work on murals for the department of interior in Washington, and will execute two heroic panels for the forthcoming San Francisco Fair.

An extremely busy man, he is of a neighboring widow and widower, whose solution of the latter's problem of two marriageable daughters is to get married themselves!

Since the walls of the houses in the street have been cut away to reveal the action within, one is liable to see several complicated situations all at once. A popular device with contemporary stagemen, it proves particularly successful in the current Padua opus.

Hilda Ramirez and Manuel Vera give able interpretations to difficult characterizations, reach the height of their performance in the hilarious "Jarabe Guenajuateno"

Eva Gomez and Manuel Diaz, two irrepressible scamps, contribute much to the development of the plot, as does Maria Martinez sweet dignity.

Through intermission the curtain remains raised upon a siesta time at which a fighting cock (tied to the leg of sleeping Alfonso Gallardo) takes the stage and holds interest to the extent that none of the audience go out. We have seen a number of Padua productions. This "Calle del Beso" has more plot, more sustaining interest, and a more brilliant (if possible) Hilda Ramirez than we have yet witnessed.

THE BREAKFAST OF ENERGY

Henry Picard

LOOKS THE SITUATION OVER!

"I've never favored one particular cigarette, Mr. Picard. I can see you do though. Do you find Camels different?"

Picard's game seems effortless. He's a long driver—in a tight spot, a heady strategist. "A cigarette, too, has to be sized up from a lot of angles," he says.

FAMOUS GOLFERS—men who need iron nerves and steady hands for that winning stroke—and millions of other people under the strain of everyday life—all appreciate this fact: Camels suit your cigarette taste from every angle. Naturally, CAMELS SET YOU RIGHT! There's a world of enjoyment in a cigarette like that. Smoke Camels yourself. See why they are so different. And note particularly the greater pleasure and contentment you experience from Camel's costlier tobacco!

"Camels are distinctly different from other cigarettes, Mr. Stahl—and they're different in many ways. The longer I smoke Camels, the more I appreciate their natural smoothness and mildness—the real mildness that's easy on the throat. Camels never tire my taste. Camels agree with me—from all angles. You know, I hear so many top-flight golfers praise them. Camels never get on your nerves, and Camels set you right!"

TOBACCO PLANTERS SAY:

"We smoke Camels because we know tobacco"

At auctions, Marvin Holloman, well-known planter, sees Camel buyers pay top prices for the finer grades of his crops. Mr. Holloman says: "At auctions the Camel buyers pay more and take the real choice lots of tobacco. That's why we tobacco planters, who know tobacco quality inside and out, make Camel our cigarette. Then we're sure we're smoking finer, COSTLIER tobaccos, and they sure make a big difference!"

"I'm a tobacco planter," says Mr. T. Strickland, who sold his highest grade tobacco to Camels. "Last year those Camel buyers bought up the finest lots of my tobacco. And they sure bid up to get them. There's a big difference in those expensive Camel tobaccos—so I smoke Camels myself. And there's your reason why most planters I know smoke Camels."

John T. Bone, who cultivates some of North Carolina's choicest leaf tobacco, remarks on the sale of his last crop: "Yes sir! I saw my best lots go for Camel cigarettes, and you can bet those Camel buyers paid top prices for them. It's no wonder I smoke the cigarette made of finer, more expensive tobaccos—Camels! Most planters smoke Camels too, for smokers who grow tobacco know tobacco."

Betty West Inspires Pretty Party

First of a series of compliments to be extended Miss Betty West by members of the younger set was the surprise shower given her last evening by a trio of college-nates, Miss Virginia Curry, Miss Betty Bradley, and Miss Barbara Warren. The wedding of Miss West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Z. B. West, and Fred Pinkston has been set for late in June.

Last night's affair was a desert bridge in the lovely Curry home on Santiago street. Guests had conspired to keep the significance of the party from the honoree, who was completely surprised when after a dainty desert course her mother, Mrs. West, and her grandmother, Mrs. M. A. Yarnell, joined the group and a number of lovely personal gifts for her trousseau were presented to her. Guests of the hostesses trio included Miss Justine Krock, Miss Mildred McCalla, Miss Betty Timmons, Miss Eleanor Cogan, Miss Jo Flaherty, Miss Dolly Raitt, Miss Eleanor Brady, Miss Harriet Fowler, Miss Evelyn Witt, Mrs. West, Mrs. Yarnell, Mrs. A. E. Ames, grandmother of Miss Curry, and Mrs. Byron Curry.

Hostesses for the afternoon yesterday were Mrs. C. E. Utt, Mrs. Clyde Walker, Mrs. R. A. Tiernan, Mrs. C. E. Franson, Mrs. E. E. Keech, and Miss Mary Thompson. Assisting in hostess duties at the affair at 1059 West Second street were Mrs. Arthur Deakin of Hollywood, and Mrs. Nettie Griswold of Santa Ana. Half a hundred guests called between the hours of three and five o'clock, enjoying a lovely tea table centered with a silver bowl of pastel hued sweet peas, the colors of which were repeated in petit fours. $30,000 ASKED AS RESULT OF TRAFFIC CRASH

George P. Adams, Los Angeles attorney noted here in extensive gun club litigation, was plaintiff today in a superior court suit of his own, demanding $30,000 for serious injuries from a collision last Christmas eve at Seventeenth street and Bolsa Chica road.

Adams was a passenger in an auto driven by L. H. Baldwin, Los Angeles business man, who also filed suit for $15,650.48 for injuries, which allegedly were struck by a car driven by Mrs. La Villa McKay of Santa Ana. Their suits were filed by L. A. West, Santa Ana attorney, and Charles E. Beardsley of Los Angeles.

Mrs. McKay, the complaints allege, was traveling at a high rate of speed when her auto struck the right side of the Baldwin car, throwing it against a roadside fence.

Adams said he sustained six fractured ribs, a collapse of the right lung, sprained muscles, nervous shock and other disabling injuries which kept him hospitalized for a month and in bed for 10 weeks more. He asks $30,000 damages for loss of law practice, $25,000 general damages and $1460.94 medical expenses.

Baldwin, who says he sustained two fractures of the pelvis, a badly lacerated hand and grave anemia, asks $15,000 general damages and $650.48 special damages.

Strip-Tease Girl Goes to Court to Establish Rights

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Evelyn Myers, shapely strip-tease dancer, has gone to court—insisting on her right to undress in public. 10 Miss Myers has filed suit against the Folies Theater, Inc., in superior court, asking that her contract be cancelled—unless she is given to right to disrobe.

The dancer charged she entered into a contract with the theater to perform her undressing routine for 26 weeks.

Instead of letting her toss her garments hither and thither, for public edification, the theater made her a "stooge" for comedians, she charged.

She demands $5000 in the event the contract is ended.

Quadruplets Ill With Measles on Eighth Birthday

LANSING, MICH. (AP)—The Morlok quadruplets are observing their eighth birthday today but without ceremony; all have the measles.

Edna A., first of the four girls to arrive May 19, 1929, was first to become ill and she promptly shared her affliction with her three sisters, Wilma B., Sarah C., and Helen D.

Mrs. Carl Morlok, their mother, planned a birthday cake, without candles, because she believed the light bad for their eyes. She said the girls do not worry much about parties. They are concerned, she said, lest they fall behind in their school work and have to remain in the 2A class another term.

Enrollment Gains In State Schools

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—California public school enrollment is on the increase again, breaking a progressive downward trend that started in 1931-32.

The decreases in kindergarten and fifth grade are so slight, the department of education noted, as to merely represent a "chance deviation" from the general gains.

The enrollment of classes from kindergarten to the 14th grade last year totaled 1,183,275, compared with 1,146,950 for the 1935-36 period.

Elementary grade enrollment rose from 754,975 in 1935-36 to 776,068 in 1936-37, while that of the ninth to 12th grades went up from 298,452 to 313,297.

The increases may be attributed largely to immigration into the state, the department said.

Lions Asked to Aid Horse Show

Cooperating in supporting the county shanty horse show Saturday and Sunday was urged of Lions club members yesterday by Ed Hall and other committeemen helping the Assistance league put on the event.

Hubert Brown, George McConnell, Ed Farnsworth, Otto Roussau, John Wagner, E. H. Layton and Mayor Fred Rowland spoke briefly.

Calvin Flint, junior college dean, presented Gil Brookings and Omie Saunders, trumpet players, and Dick Geeting, junior college student who spoke on world peace.

Senate Votes Rise In U. S. Bond Limit

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The senate voted today to increase from $25,000,000,000 to $30,000,000,000 the total amount of long-term bonds the government may have outstanding at one time.

Under statutory limitations the treasury can have outstanding not more than a total of $45,000,000,000 of securities—$25,000,000,000 in long term bonds and $20,000,000,000 in short term paper.

STATE CALLED 'SOFT SPOT'

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Declaring that California is the "soft spot" for old age pension seekers because of liberal requirements under the state law, members of the board of supervisors have urged congress to consider means of standardizing pension costs throughout the nation.

While withholding a recommendation for enactment of the measure, the supervisors requested representatives at Washington to bring out of committee in congress the bill which proposes granting a $60 monthly pension to all American citizens over the age of 60 years.

In acting, the supervisors declared Los Angeles county faces an increased load or more than 11,000 new old age pensioners in the next fiscal year, with a cost upon taxpayers here of more than $3,000,000.

Chopping down wild cherry trees is bad luck for a farmer if he lets the cut trees lie in a cow pasture, for the leaves are poisonous to cattle.

$21.93 TAX ON $55,000 ESTATE

Inheritance taxes on the $55,000 estate of the late James Royal Scott of Fullerton amounted to but $21.93, Inheritance Tax Appraiser Howard Irwin reported today.

A daughter, Virginia Rose Scott, was exempt from taxation on the $5000 bequest of her father, and the widow, Mrs. Rose Lee Scott, had a statutory exemption of $24,000 and a community property exemption of $21,058.35 on her share. Taxable part of her share of the estate was $1084.44, with $1000 taxed at 2 per cent and the balance at 3 per cent, Irwin's report showed.

31 Republicans in Congress Support Townsend Measure

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Thirty-one Republican representatives have signed a resolution endorsing the Townsend old-age pension plan, Representative Smith (R., Me.) said today.

Smith forecast a majority of house Republicans would sign the resolution, endorsing the "general welfare" bill and asking its consideration by the house ways and means committee.

Some Republicans privately interpreted this move as an effort to obtain the support of Dr. Francis Townsend in the fall elections.

Smith, one of those circulating the resolution, said the drive for signatures was conducted principally at present among California and New England Republicans.

365 SCHEDULED TO GET SANTA ANA HIGH SCHOOL DIPLOMAS

I Just Found Out Ambulance Chasers—By—
MILLARD BROWNE

There are no ambulance chasers in Orange county! And if you have your suspicions just ask the ambulance drivers themselves. They'll claim, contrary to big-city legend, that they're never bothered by shysters, though they run into practically everything else in their duties, which are widely-varied, but mostly grim and a bit morbid.

Ambulance sirens shriek about 50 times a week on county highways, and that means there's an emergency. But actually only a quarter of the ambulance business is rush work. Three-fourths of the cases are illnesses, transfers from hospital to home, or some ailment that demands smooth riding rather than speed.

When there's an emergency, ambulance drivers rarely know what kind of case it is. Sometimes they're told it's an accident and asked to bring a doctor; more often they just get the location, speed to the scene before they see what the trouble is.

More of the speed is done in getting the car up on the highway. Average running speed in open country on emergency calls is 50 to 60 miles an hour; ambulances rarely go faster than that, though they'll do more good by arriving 30 seconds later than by not getting there at all.

Ambulances have special state permits that let them use a siren and red light, and they can go as fast as is "prudent" on the open road, must stay within 40 miles an hour in town.

Major complaint of nearly all drivers, though, is that their red light and siren do comparatively little good. "You might as well sit on the hood and holler," one ambulance man claimed. Drivers must take their chances when joy-riders don't pay proper attention to sirens, because on hurry-up calls they have to cross their fingers and assume the other driver will yield the right-of-way at intersections.

Only outfit in the county that specializes in ambulance work is the Orange County Ambulance Service, run by W. H. Smith, though eight mortuaries scattered from Fullerton to San Clemente operate ambulances in connection with their funeral parlors.

Ambulances get calls for everything from a stubbed toe to messy accidents where six or eight people are badly hurt. Rapid, efficient action often is required for some of the more serious accidents, where the driver must pull a mangled body out of the car, make a hasty examination, possibly apply splints, then load him into the car and roar toward the nearest hospital.

Ambulance rates run from $2.50 up, and the operators are taking as much chance in collecting as doctors do. They can't turn down a case, must rush the victim to the hospital and collect later. That means much of the work is "charity."

Typical trouble a driver has: Call came in from Delaney; it was an expectant mother, but she wouldn't ride in the ambulance; the driver went home, had another call three hours later, and this time he took the lady to a hospital because the doctor insisted.

Another woman had taken poison, but when the ambulance arrived she wouldn't tell the driver what the poison was; he had to feed her every antidote he had in his first aid kit. She pulled through.

Drivers take their traffic troubles, even the most exasperating ones, philosophically, but there was a case at Dyer road and South Main street that was almost too much. By the time the ambulance was loaded and ready to leave the scene of a wreck, onlookers had hemmed it in from both sides, and it had to travel a mile and a half out of the way to get to a hospital.

There's an occasional funny incident to relieve the strain, though. Like the time an ambulance was en route to Fullerton, came to a car lying on its top. The driver stopped, looked inside, found a very wobbly but uninjured individual and helped him out. He insisted his girl friend was still inside, badly hurt, and the drivers didn't dare tip the car back on its wheels. They gingerly examined the car, and finally the crank wheels were remembered he'd taken her home earlier in the evening.

Fastest service in local ambulance history? It was on Flower street in Santa Ana, and the car's wheels were still spinning when an ambulance got there. It just happened that the mercy car was going by at the time, but the couple injured in the wreck was genuinely astonished by the service.

Toughest times of day to drive an ambulance: Dawn and dusk, because for some reason no one pays attention to sirens and red lights at that time.

John F. Walton, who died last March 5, left an estate worth $25,100, Inheritance Tax Appraiser James B. Utz reported today. The estate consisted principally of a $25,000 ranch in the Katella district.

DR. CEFALU
SUED BY WIFE
FOR DIVORCE

Dr. Victor Cefalu, county pathologist who resigned only a few weeks ago from his public job, was sued today for separate maintenance by his wife, Lorraine, who charged he went on frequent "sprees" and had been unfaithful to her.

In a superior court complaint against the former noted Seattle physician, Mrs. Cefalu asked support from her husband's alleged $60,000 property and custody of the couple's 5-year-old daughter.

Dr. Cefalu, appointed early this year to the county hospital position, resigned after a trip to Seattle complained of by his wife in her complaint. His position has not yet been filled.

His wife, who lives at 2001 North Main street, charged his periodic "sprees" often required hospitalization; that he frequently associated with other women; that he left for Seattle March 29 without notifying her or the hospital, and that an unnamed woman from Seattle came to Orange county later.

She charged her husband registered with this woman as man and wife in an Anaheim hotel and at La Vida Hot springs, and is now planning a trip to Hawaii with her. The woman, she alleges, was arrested for drunk driving May 3.

While operating the doctor's car, she said Dr. Cefalu has $42,000 in life insurance, a $4500 Seattle residence and a $4500 Santa Ana home, a $5000 office in Seattle, two cars, bank accounts and household furnishings.

His income in Seattle, she alleged, was $2000 a month before it began to dwindle. She asks the court for a restraining order preventing him from disposing of assets and from molesting her, a division of community property and a reasonable amount for support of herself and their daughter.

The couple was married in 1920 in Gretna, La.

3 Men Arrested on Liquor Charge

Three men, allegedly intoxicated, were arrested, and two others escaped before officers could arrive on four calls last night and early today.

Benito Rivas, 53, 1209 West Second street, was arrested at Third and Daisy streets; James Mahoney, 508 Collins, was brought into custody at Fourth and Santa Fe streets, and John H. Thompson, 721 1/2 Garfield, was arrested.

Mary Balano, 514 North Artesia street, said she returned home and found two intoxicated men in her house around 12:15 a. m. today. When she ordered them out, they refused to go. They were gone, however, before officers could arrive.

LEGION LINES UP BACK OF POPPY SALE

Forty members of the Santa Ana American Legion auxiliary were rallied behind the annual Poppy Days campaign, May 27-28, at the auxiliary's eighteenth birthday dinner in Legion hall last night.

"Honor for the dead and aid for the living" were described as the dual purpose of the memorial poppy in a talk by Mrs. Eugene A. Robinson, chairman of the campaign.

"Nothing expresses the honor we feel for the World War dead more fittingly than wearing the poppy—it is their flower," she said. "And with our remembrance of the dead, naturally come thoughts of those who did not die but who lost the health and strength of young manhood. The poppy is for them, too, and for their wives and children."

Mrs. Charles Leimer, auxiliary president, conducted the anniversary dinner, which was attended by both members and junior members.

As a sponsor, Miss Lloyd's duties will consist in helping acquaint freshman women with Pomona and adjust them to their college life.

EMERGENCY AID FOR RAILROADS BLOCKED, FEAR

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Administration opposition to railroad wage cuts, authoritative persons said today, has virtually destroyed prospects for emergency financial aid to the carriers at this session of congress.

These persons depicted administration officials as determined not to give financial support to the roads unless they back down on their proposal to cut wages 15 per cent.

They said railroad management, on the other hand, was unwilling to forego the reduction to obtain new federal loans.

Public expressions of administration supporters reflected this situation. Chairman Wagner (D., N. Y.) said the senate banking committee might recall legislation which it already has approved if the carriers insisted on going through with a general wage cut.

The committee approved a bill authorizing equipment, maintenance and work loans by the reconstruction finance corporation under more liberal terms than heretofore, but administration leaders held it up last week pending a study of railroad objections to certain financial provisions.

Wagner said that within the next week he would ask representatives of railroad management and labor, previously united on the financial program, to express their views in the light of the wage cut proposal.

Physical Test of Workers May Lead To Walk-Out

MANILA, P. I. (AP)—Twelve hundred workers in one of the world's largest dried coconut factories have found a new reason for threatening a strike.

Workers at the Franklin Baker company factory at San Pablo, Laguna province, lay no claims to shorter hours, more pay or better working conditions.

Instead, they served notice they would walk out Monday unless the company stops giving women workers complete physical examinations.

Month-Old Strike In Detroit Ended

DETROIT, (AP)—Homer Martin, international president of the United Automobile Workers, announced settlement of the Michigan Steel Castings Co. strike, a month-old dispute marked by a riot at the plant gates May 9 in which 11 persons were injured.

Martin said the company had agreed to permit an impartial auditor to study the firm's records to determine if a wage cut were necessary. The strike was called April 19 to protest a 10 per cent wage cut.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

From the beginning the Townsend Plan movement has continuously emphasized the need of re-employing the nation's jobless. It has argued that the nation can not experience recovery with any considerable portion of the breadwinners of the nation unemployed. It would seem to be self-evident that any economic recovery worthy of being so labeled, must include employment opportunities sufficiently abundant to re-employ at properly high wages any and all of our citizens wanting jobs. And when this column says "properly high wages" it means something considerably different and better as a wage element than the $58.20 per month WPA dole.

John D. Biggers of the national unemployment census reported this week that America's unemployed at the time the census was taken last fall was equal to the combined populations of Nevada, Wyoming, Delaware, Vermont, New Mexico, Arizona, Idaho, New Hampshire, Utah, Montana, North Dakota, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Maine and Oregon, 15 states in all. The figures showed 7,845,016 included in the unemployed. But more than a half a year has gone by since the census was taken and unemployment has increased until Harry Hopkins estimates that now from 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 are unemployed throughout the nation.

There is little wonder that a business recession exists when so large a proportion of the nation's citizens are without buying power because of unemployment. The need is to get this great army of our unemployed back to work producing wealth and as a reward for such efforts to be re-instated with the privilege of becoming users and consumers of created wealth. With such a program in progress the business recession would disappear and prosperity would become general. The Townsend plan movement has preached this kind of a gospel from its beginning and has pointed out a sensible, practical way by which

Faulty Wiring of Switch ills SiKx

LONDON, (AP)—A public inquiry disclosed today that faulty wiring of a signal was responsible for the subway crash in which six persons were killed Tuesday.

the same could be realized.

When will the nation's leaders wake up to the fact that what is needed is not the subsidizing of railroads, public utilities, business corporations and banks, but instead a subsidizing of a purchasing power on the part of the elderly as a medium to start the wheels of commerce moving with sufficient speed to take up the slack in employment? In conclusion may I say that a subsidizing of the elderly with purchasing power through generous old age annuities is something entirely different from subsidizing relief work doles and direct relief as is being practiced. The revolving of the transaction tax fund through the channels of trade will bring the recovery which doles provided by bond issues eventually to be paid by direct taxes, can never do. The Townsend plan will solve the unemployment problem of the nation if given a chance.

Willard School Notes

by MOLLY HARVEY

Helen Butler was appointed chairman of the general clean-up campaign sponsored by Mrs. Louise Wright and Mrs. M. D. Scott at a recent meeting of the home-room representatives. Starting the project Helen wrote slogans and Warren Paul had them printed.

Amid a towering pile of equipment ranging from tennis balls to horse-shoes, a lone figure may be seen in the P. E. equipment room, striving futilely to check all the mitts, balls, rackets and other sporting devices. The qualifications for a checker-inner are speed and a good memory of faces. Students never take time to give their name when they check articles out.

Jim Thorpe, full-blooded Sac and Fox Indian and America's greatest all-time football player and all-around athlete, will feature one of the six pay assemblies to be presented at Willard next year, Lyle B. Mitchell, principal, revealed today. Arthur Santell, America's strongest athlete, will present a program of exhibitions of strength and a practical lecture on health.

Members of the high nine electricity class visited the amateur radio station, WJMA, owned and operated by Norman Hicks, Willard teacher, April 28, for the purpose of learning more thoroughly the operation of radio equipment. Within the short time the class was visiting, Mr. Hicks contacted places as far as Fort Wayne, Ind., and Sycamore, O. The equipment that was used consisted of two receivers, four transmitters, four power supplies, one modulator, a speech amplifier, condenser microphone, preamplifier, and a cathode ray oscilloscope. Three antennas were used.

Burr Shafer, well-known Santa Ana painter and musician, is now exhibiting 13 musical abstractions in the Willard showcase and library under the auspices of Mrs. Grace Lund. Mr. Shafer has done a remarkable task in visualizing in well handled color and pattern various motifs of the world of music," Mrs. Lund stated today.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, chairman of the senate judiciary committee, was admitted to emergency hospital yesterday, suffering from a severe case of shingles.

Trailer Library Provides Curb Service In Books

DENVER, (AP)—"I couldn't get to the library" no longer will be an excuse, in Denver, for not reading books.

A special trailer has been constructed and fitted with shelves to hold 1500 books. It will travel about the city, like an ice cream wagon, with a bell to herald its approach.

If anyone wants a book he just runs out to the curb, hails the driver and the library stops long enough for him to select one. Inside the "perambulator," with the books, is space for the desk of a librarian.

In addition to traveling about various neighborhood streets, the trailer will be parked on certain days in parks and on busy intersections. If the first trailer is a success, others probably will be built.

PRISON NEARS COMPLETION
TERMINAL ISLAND, Calif., (AP) The new $1,250,000 federal prison at Los Angeles harbor here will be ready to receive its first batch of inmates about June 1.

MAJOR PARTIES IN STATE KEEP SAME RATIOS

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—The ratio of Democrats and Republicans registered in California has changed but little since the 1936 general election, a check of 28 out of 58 counties showed today.

Total Democratic registration in these counties, which include Los Angeles and San Francisco, is 1,350,671, or 51 per cent of the comparative total for the last election. The Republican total is 831,990, or 49 per cent of the 1936 figure. New figures were not available in the other counties.

The drop in registration was caused by the removal from the books of the names of those who failed to vote in the state primary and general election of 1936.

Clerks of several counties reported they expected a spurt in registration activities during the next 30 days.

Total registration for the entire state in 1936 was 3,253,821, including 1,882,014 Democratic and 1,244,507 Republican.

"NO MAN CAN MAKE A GOOD COAT WITH BAD CLOTH"

—AN OLD PROVERB

When Hills Bros. began business in 1878, they decided to use only the best grades of coffee in their blend. This early decision has become a tradition. And it will always be lived up to, because Hills Bros. have learned through sixty years of experience that no roasting method—no grinding or packing process—can ever make fine coffee out of poor grades of coffee.

CLANS GATHER FOR ANNUAL RITES SUNDAY

The Order of Scottish Clans will hold their annual service at Forest Lawn Memorial park in Sunday and preparations have been made for a huge crowd by providing sufficient seats and parking space for automobiles. The service will be held at the Wee Kirk o' the Heather in Forest Lawn, starting at 2 p. m.

Principal speakers will include J. Wiseman McDonald, Los Angeles attorney and prominent Scottish Clan worker, and Francis E. Evans, British consul.

John Lambert, baritone, will be heard in a solo number and Jeanette McDonald, motion picture soprano, may accept an invitation to take part in the services.

Arrangements have been made with the Mutual Broadcasting Co. for the use of the Pacific Coast network of that system for one hour and the Canadian Broadcasting commission has been contacted for the use of their facilities as well.

A parade will start at the Tam o' Shanter Inn on Los Feliz boulevard in Glendale and will include marching units from the various Clans, men's pipe band as well as a women's. Posts of the Canadian Legion and V. V. McLaughlin's band and motorcycle troupe.

The Order of Scottish Clans and the Council of British Societies of Southern California extend an invitation to anyone wishing to attend.

Doctor Points Out Drinking-Driver Danger

BOSTON.—The drinking driver as well as the drunken driver is a menace and must be convicted by the courts if the auto accident toll is to be reduced.

That is the conclusion expressed by Dr. Sylvius Selvick of Boston in an article just published in the Journal of the American Medical Association bulletin. It is based on a study of alcoholism conducted at the Boston city hospital under the sponsorship of the WPA.

"Alcoholic intoxication without any gross manifestations of drunkenness can produce sufficient interference with psychomotor activity and coordination to render such an affected individual a potential public menace," Dr. Selvick stated.

Competent physicians and present blood tests now often indicate a man sober when he is actually in a dangerous condition for driving, Dr. Selvick believes. "Our experiments show the drinking driver is offered too much laxity."

A blood test in which the alcohol level above which intoxication is definite is set much lower than in present tests was recommended.

Government scientists are studying a process of seasoning lumber with salt.

With 26 Left, Ex-Wife of Radio Executive Ends Life

NEW YORK. (AP)—With only 26 cents left in her purse, the divorced wife of a Columbia Broadcasting company executive today garbed herself in black—symbolic of mourning—and lay down on the bed in her modest lower Park avenue apartment.

Hours later the building superintendent entered with a pass key and found Mrs. Helen Willis, 32, lying there under an invisible blanket of illuminating gas. The superintendent, Leonard Furey, turned off the five burners of the kitchenette stove, opened the windows and called the police.

An ambulance from Bellevue hospital responded but the doctors said the woman had been dead for hours.

Detectives Thomas Murray and Patrick Dugan, searching through her effects, found the 26 cents, a rent bill due today, and a divorce decree issued on June 25, 1934, at Newburgh, N. Y., dissolving the marriage of Helen Thornton and Frederick A. Willis.

Willis, assistant to President William S. Paley of the Columbia Broadcasting system, was in Washington, but his present wife said he formerly was married to a Helen Thornton.

French Woman Says Earhart Mark Falls

PARIS. (AP)—French aviation authorities announced today that Madame Andre Dupeyron, French amateur flyer and mother of two children, had broken the late Amelia Earhart's women's international airline distance record with a flight from Oran, Algeria, to a field near Basra, Iraq.

Madame Dupeyron telegraphed she had landed at Tel El Asham. Officials calculated she had covered 4360 kilometers (2808 miles). Miss Earhart's record, made Aug. 24-25, 1932, between Los Angeles, Cal., and Newark, N. J., was 3939 kilometers (2448 miles).

Train Dogs for Blind Persons

CHICAGO. (AP)—Bishop Bernard J. Sheil of the Chicago Catholic diocese has announced he will start raising and training dogs to lead blind boys and girls.

Two pairs of dogs are being imported from Germany and an expert in training the animals will be sent here.

The bishop said he would finance the training of four blind youths at the Seeing Eye Institute in Morristown, N. J., next summer and purchase dogs for them if they qualify to handle the animals.

Arabia is about one-fourth the size of Europe.

Open Collection Plate Brings 20 Per Cent Rise

POPLAR, England. (AP)—The Rev. Mr. Kenneth Ashcroft has no use for people who put a halfpenny (one cent) in the collection plate when they can afford more.

"Such people should be slung out of the church, just as they would be slung out of any society if they refused to pay their 'sub' (subscription)," he declared recently.

He adopted a less severe way of dealing with the situation, however, than the canon who warned his flock he would throw all halfpennies in the collection into the street—and carried out his threat.

The Rev. Mr. Ashcroft simply put his congregation on the spot by substituting an open collection plate for the traditional collection bag which conceals the amount being given. And collections went up about 20 per cent, he said.

"Egg White" Made With Soy Beans

NEW YORK.—Soy bean flour dissolved in water can be used as an inexpensive substitute for egg white in cooking, a research report published by the American Chemical society stated. The mixture is easy to whip into a stiff white foam, keeps indefinitely and is easily transported and handled, according to the report.

Essay Winner Forgot Name, Delays Queen

LONDON. (American Wire)—Because an absent-minded essayist forgot to sign his name, Queen Mary, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and other notables are having to delay awarding prizes in an empire-wide essay contest on organization of an empire youth movement. They published an extract of the winning essay and will compare the handwriting of resultant letters with the original manuscript.

London's famous bell, Big Ben, weighs about 13 and one-half tons—or as much as four elephants.

Wrong Is Right On Alaskan Roads

Driving on the "wrong" side of the road may be all right at times in Alaska, a federal judge has decided.

Observing that on the territory's country roads there sometimes is "one beaten track or lane of travel" used by automobiles traveling in both directions, Judge Simon Hellenthal instructed a jury in an accident case that a motorist "is not necessarily negligent because he drives on the left-hand side of a road in which but one

MARKET COMMENT

Introducing Mr. Wayne Reafsnyder

Wayne Reafsnyder, the hustling groceryman on the Broadway entrance of the Grand Central Market has been in the same spot for two years. Although one of the comparatively new merchants in the market, Wayne has built up a clientele of high grade customers. Reafsnyder was born in Kansas, May 1, 1908, came to Garden Grove, California, thirteen years ago and has been working in the grocery business for the past 10 years, almost all of them in the Grand Central Market.

Wayne's first love is horses (outside of his business) and you can bet your last nickel he will be at the Horse Show. As a matter of fact Wayne owns two of the equine (belongs to the El Rodeo Riding club) and will show them at the big to-do through the week-end.

If you love horses, or ever went through Kansas, you can get yourself a first class gabfest by stepping over to see Wayne.

An anniversary is one of those things that happen when you look back and laugh (or snarl) at all the misgivings, hopes, plans and buck fever you had when you were starting in business. (This didn't come from Webster) . . . so we'll sit back with our thumbs in our vest and tell you what this all leads up to . . .

Tomorrow we celebrate the 16th anniversary of the founding of the Grand Central Market in Santa Ana. Lots of water has gone under the bridge (and over) since the big day . . . new faces have come and gone, while some of the old faces of the opening day are still here . . . a little older in years, but they are still the same friends who have served the people of Santa Ana with the best products their respective stores could obtain. These men and women, without a doubt, deserve all of the best wishes their many friends can give them.

All of the merchants of the market, from the most recent arrival to the grizzled veteran, combine in extending to you, an invitation to inspect our shops, investigate our values or just come in to say "Howdy!" during our big 16th anniversary week celebration.

Here's what our anniversary means to us . . . every merchant has extended himself to give you the best values obtainable in his particular line of business . . . the Meat Markets have thrown caution to the winds . . . choice cuts of the finest grades of meat are offered to you at dividend prices. . . . The grocery and vegetable men have a big time war on among themselves to see who can offer the most enticing bargains, and if you think Charley Eaton didn't put in some overtime preparing those anniversary cakes we are going to give everybody who visits us, you can guess again.

Everybody along the line has really "put out" so as to make this one of the "whoopla" weeks of the Grand Central history . . . get here Saturday if you can, and if you can't, be sure to be one of the guests of the Market one day next week, because the big sales will extend from the 21st to the 28th inclusive. . . .

We haven't forgotten the youngsters, there's candy suckers for the kids, so bring them in, too, and give 'em a treat on us.

Turn your good ear and lend a listen to every one of the sales talks you happen to hear when you are in the market this next week . . . it'll be worth your while . . . both in dollars and time.

Here's a tip . . . don't be bashful about asking any one of the merchants in the market to carry your packages to your car. They will be only too glad to help.

Take advantage of the private parking lot the Grand Central operates . . . it is located on First street, opposite the Goodrich Service Store.

You'll see a new Willys car on display in the market . . . don't get excited, it won't be given away . . . but you can easily buy one . . . "Heck" Collins is the man just across the street on Sycamore.

Love in Disguise

by MARY KEAS

CHAPTER XXXI

JIMMIE stared at the ring, the color draining from his face. "Peggy. . . ."

"I'm sorry, Jimmie—"

"Who—who is it?" he stammered, misery in his eyes.

"Lieutenant Paul Rimini—the Marchese della Chiesa. He is the Comtesse's nephew—an officer in the Italian air corps. I met him last spring. Peggy gave the information jerkily. Jimmie buried his face in his hands.

Finally, he looked up. "And—and you're sure you love him, Peggy?"

She lowered her eyes. "Yes. . . ."

She paused. "It—it was he who arranged for my operation—induced the surgeon to perform it. I owe him a great deal."

"Owe him!" cried Jimmie, leaping to his feet. "Are you marrying him out of gratitude? Is that it? Look at me, Peggy! Look me straight in the eye! Can you honestly tell me that you love him?"

Peggy raised her eyes and looked at him steadily.

"Yes, Jimmie—I do."

His shoulders sagged. "Well—I guess there's nothing more to be said. . . ."

"He stared at the ground, kicking at a tuft of grass with the toe of his shoe. "I guess it's good-bye."

Then, he looked up, squared his shoulders, and extended his hand. "Lots of happiness, Peggy," he said, forcing a smile.

"Thank you."

He held her hand for a long moment, then turned abruptly, and strode away.

Peggy gazed after him. All her old love for him surged up within her. "Oh, Jimmie. . . . Jimmie. . . ."

her heart cried out. But her lips remained silent.

JIMMIE returned to the village inn with the intention of checking out at once. But just as he was about to enter the inn, he ran into Mr. Greer.

"Jimmie!" exclaimed the old man, in delighted astonishment. "What on earth are you doing on this side of the ocean?"

Then, without waiting for an answer, he turned excitedly to call to his wife, who was loitering with the Comtesse before a shop window. "Molly! Here's Jimmie Meredith!"

Mrs. Greer came hurrying to greet him. Then, he was introduced to the Comtesse.

"Mr. Greer Meredith—better known as Jimmie," said Mr. Greer. "A friend of ours—and Peggy's—from back home."

The Comtesse was looking at him with a strange expression in her eyes.

"A friend of Peggy's?" she murmured. "Does she know yet that you're here, Mr. Meredith?"

"Why—yes," Jimmie stammered. "I've just been out to see her."

"You must come out again," the Comtesse invited. "When the rest of us will be home. How long will you be here?"

"I just came over on a quick business trip," he lied. "Heard Peggy was down here, so dashed down from Paris to see her. I'll be going back—almost immediately."

"Oh, then you must come and dine with us this evening!" said the Comtesse.

She was still studying him with her shrewd black eyes. She had guessed that this was the boy Peggy had mentioned, and she wondered if Peggy had broken the news to him yet.

"Thank you," said Jimmie, reddening. "My nephew is coming up from Rome this evening," the Comtesse added. "We'd be delighted to have you join us."

Jimmie hesitated. He knew that he should not accept this invitation—knew that he should take the next train back to Paris, and not see Peggy again—but he had a sudden strong impulse to meet this man she had chosen. He had an irresistible curiosity about him. "Thank you," he heard himself saying. "I'd love to."

WHEN Jimmie arrived at the villa that evening, he found Mr. Greer and Paul alone in the drawing room. The ladies had not yet come downstairs.

He arrived at an awkward moment.

Paul was showing the old man a gift he had brought Peggy—a strand of pearls that had belonged to his mother. He hastily replaced them in their velvet box as Jimmie was shown into the room, but not before Jimmie had glimpsed them. The sight of them made Jimmie wince. The thought that another man—not he—had won the right to give Peggy such a gift sent a stab of pain through him.

Then, Mr. Greer was introducing him to Paul, and he was making the proper responses. Despite his preconceived prejudice against the Italian, he could not help grudgingly admitting to himself that he liked the man's appearance. And as they talked, the good impression was strengthened. Yes, Peggy had doubtless made a very good choice. . . .

Presently a servant came to tell Mr. Greer that Peggy was ready to be assisted downstairs. And the old man excused himself. For a few minutes, there was an awkward silence between the two young men, broken only by perfunctory remarks.

Then, Peggy was coming through the doorway on her grandfather's arm. She was wearing a rustling, full-skirted gown in a shade of green that set off her red-gold hair to perfection. Jimmie, gazing at her, thought he had never seen her looking lovelier.

Paul had hastened to her side, and she was smiling up at him, a light in her eyes. "She once looked at me like that," thought Jimmie.

Then, she turned to him and, with one hand clinging to Paul's arm, held out the other hand to him. Her smile now was set.

"I'm so glad you could come. Jimmie," she said formally.

AS PAUL assisted her into a chair, Mr. Greer moved over to Jimmie and gave him a slight nudge. He jerked his head toward the French windows opening onto the terrace.

"Let's step outside for a smoke," he suggested.

Jimmie knew that it was supposed to give Paul an opportunity to give Peggy the pearls.

Outside, in the dark, he lit a cigarette with trembling hands. He tried to listen to what Mr. Greer was saying as they strolled a short distance from the house, but it was just a buzzing in his ears.

Presently, from inside, he heard Peggy's voice, raised in delight—"Oh, Paul! What beauties!"

Mr. Greer was talking on and on. Oh, why didn't the old man hush! Jimmie turned and looked toward the lighted house. Through the French windows, he could see that Peggy had risen to let Paul fasten the pearls about her throat. Then, her arms went about his neck, and she drew his head down to kiss him.

Jimmie looked away.

GRAND CENTRAL MARKET OPENS BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION NEXT WEEK

30 BUSINESSES GROUPED UNDER ONE BIG ROOF

Starting Saturday and all next week, the merchants at Grand Central Market will celebrate the sixteenth anniversary of the establishment of the "City Under One Roof."

The Grand Central market represents the culmination of a dream formulated 16 years ago by a group of civic-minded men. An entire block bounded by Sycamore, Second and Broadway is now taken up by the market.

Officers of the Santa Ana development company, owners of Grand Central Market, include: A. N. Zerman, Linn L. Shaw, Roy Russell, H. K. Work, H. C. Head, Manager is George H. Boardman. The market is an amazing establishment to the newcomer to Santa Ana, owing to its size. It covers more than 25,000 square feet of floor space and houses approximately 30 individual businesses.

And every merchant is an independent resident owner of his business, interested in Santa Ana and its future. Local persons are engaged as employees in the various concessions.

Each merchant is in direct competition with the others, and all are interested in offering the best quality merchandise and services.

For the convenience of shoppers visiting the market by automobile, the merchants maintain a spacious parking lot less than one-half block away. This property is free to the patrons of the market.

After a shopping tour through Grand Central market, the customer is advised to visit one of the restaurants in the market, patronize one of the two barber shops, or the beauty salon, have shoes shined and repaired, clothes cleaned or pressed, his watch repaired, secure radio service and countless other services.

SEVERAL IN GRAND CENTRAL FOR 16 YEARS

One reason why Grand Central Market is such a popular place to shop in is because the merchants there are well-established. Several have been rendering continuous service since the building was opened 16 years ago.

Fred Triplett is one of the pioneers at this market. Since 1922 he has been operating a popular cleaning and pressing business bearing the trade name, California Cleaners. Triplett has acquired hundreds of friends during this period of time.

Then there is George Klamm of the Broadway Meat market. Klamm has been located in the Grand Central Market since 1922. He is owner of the Broadway Meat Market. He handles baby beef which the Tovrea Packing company produces. A recent development in his firm is a pickling room where Flavorite Hams are processed and cured.

Process is protected by United States government patents and approved by the state.

Another old-timer at the Grand Central Market is Henry Schmidt, proprietor of Schmidt's Meat Market. The Cudahy Packing company and the Irvine ranch furnish steers for meat used in his market.

Ray Williams, proprietor of the Banner Produce, has been in business at the same location for the past ten years. He operates a fleet of trucks daily between his market and the vegetable raising centers to bring fresh produce to his customers direct from the producer.

Abraham Tucker, owner of Tucker's fruit stand, is another old-timer who has been in the market since it was opened.

WHAT'S WHAT 'BOUT TRAFFIC

By H. C. MEEHAN

Captain, Orange County Unit California Highway Patrol

A statistical analysis of all accidents in Orange county during the preceding month will be listed in this column once a month, showing the total number of accidents, type, highway on which it occurred, time of day—and the vehicle code violation that caused it.

Last month there were 45 accidents in which someone was injured or killed. (The county luckily escaped with only one death.)

Here are the violations that caused them:

Seven accidents (six injuries and one death) caused by violation of section 525 (driving on wrong side); 10 accidents, violation of 511 (speeding); 10 by violating 550 (fail to give right-of-way); four by violating 577 (fail to make boulevard stop); four by violating 502 (drunk driving); two each by violating 582 (improper parking), 527 (improper passing), 544 (failure to give signal); one each by violating 530 (passing on crest of grade) and 679 (opening unsafe vehicle); and two by miscellaneous causes.

Compilation by the time of day accidents occurred:

Six injured between 12 and 6 a. m.; eight injured between 6 a. m. and 12 noon; nine injured between 12 and 4 p. m.; 14 injured, one killed between 4 and 8 p. m.; seven injured between 8 p. m. and 12 midnight.

It is interesting to note that the largest percentage of accidents occur at night (only records show that 21 accidents occurred between 4 p. m. and midnight). Most of our fatal accidents also happen at night. We feel this is due, generally, to the fact that motor vehicles are operated at such a high rate of speed that lights fail to give sufficient vision and by the time an object is seen in the highway ahead it is too late to stop the vehicle.

The same holds true in traveling over highways with which you are not familiar. Coming upon curves or dips at too fast a speed, your

PREPARE SPORT PROGRAM FOR VETS' BARBECUE

Sports for young and old and appearance of the 70-piece Loyola university band will feature the annual picnic and barbecue to be staged May 29 in Sycamore Grove campground by the Disaster Relief commission of the Orange County American Legion.

The band will offer musical selections throughout the afternoon. Judge Frank Drumm of Santa Ana will act as master of ceremonies during the program, which will include many interesting events for men, women and children.

Ben Liebermann, chairman of the Legion commission, pointed out today that the picnic and barbecue is not a function only for Legionnaires and their families, but is for the general public. Tickets will be sold at 50 cents for adults and 35 cents for children and will include admission to the picnic grounds in Santa Ana canyon, free parking and a full-course barbecue dinner.

Tony Barrios and Willis Duffy, both well-known chefs, are in charge of preparing the dinner, and are planning to serve at least 2000 persons during the afternoon. The picnic is being sponsored by the Disaster Relief commission as a benefit for its treasury and for staging the annual Armistice day parade. During the March flood nearly 500 Legionnaires turned out for emergency duty and funds to finance their activities were made instantly available from the relief commission's treasury.

Where do accidents happen? Here's the April compilation by highways:

Five each on Newport road and the Coast highway; four each on Chapman avenue and 101 highway; two each on 101 alternate, Manchester boulevard, Stanton avenue, Placentia avenue and Lincoln avenue; one each on Veranda road, Harbor boulevard, Santa Ana canyon road, La Mirada and Grand avenues, Olinda street and Imperial highway, Grand avenue, Laguna canyon, and nine on miscellaneous county roads. (The death resulted from an accident on Newport road just north of 101 highway).

According to this analysis, our accidents are scattered all over the county, Newport road and the Coast highway accounting for the largest number.

Speed and failure to give the right-of-way are the major factors insofar as violations are concerned, each accounting for six accidents. Accidents due to boulevard stop violations dropped to four, possibly because we have been concentrating our efforts on these violations. Remember: Driving an automobile is serious business.

Police Catch Up With Pajama-Clad Man at 1 A M.

Why anyone would care to be out in his pajamas on one of Santa Ana's cold nights is hard to understand, but H. E. Rowland, 29, just out from Pennsylvania, was located at 1519 East First street around 1 a. m. today, and taken to the county hospital for observation.

Rowland was picked up by Santa Ana police following a report a "man was acting queer" in the 200 block on Sycamore street, and had just left the house in his pajamas.

Life In These U. S.

SMART ALEC

CAMDEN, N. J.—Three times an intruder forced his way into Isaac Paul's home while Paul and his wife were away, and helped himself to contents of the icebox.

The third time Paul carefully searched the house. On a couch in the living room he saw a figure apparently asleep. Stealthily he approached, then leaped upon the inert "sleepers."

It was a dummy—made up of pillows and old clothes.

SPRINGTIME MYSTERY

CHICAGO—Mrs. Albert Dughi, of suburban Highland, phoned the police department when she could not find the 200 goldfish that were supposed to be in her garden pool.

Donning hip boots and arming himself with a stick, Chief John Smith personally did some probing into the case, and solved the mystery.

"Your goldfish will be back with interest," he told Mrs. Dughi. "They're in the mud at the bottom of the pool. They're spawning."

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

VANCOUVER, B. C.—A robin lighted on the back of Evan's baby carriage as she slept outdoors on her first birthday.

It laid a small blue egg.

BREAK-UP

SAN JOSE, Calif.—Mrs. Velma F. Kirby sought a divorce from Glenn E. Kirby, whom she described as a business adviser who "always got fired because his employees resented being told how to run their business."

Mrs. Kirby said he never held a job more than two or three days.

DEFENSE

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Three business men were arraigned here in a drive against punchboards.

"Your honor," said a defense attorney, "the distributors might be led to believe gambling devices legal because the federal government collects 10 cents each on them as amusement tax."

"Is that so?" replied Judge Clifford McLaughlin. "Case dismissed."

Germany has 560 museums "for the preservation of German culture" in German speaking territory outside the Reich.

GALIVAN PASS SLIDE ALONG HIGHWAY STOPS

The landslide, which for the past two months has been damaging the state highway at Galivan pass, has apparently stopped moving within the past few days, according to reports from maintenance officials.

For a time the large lump was moving about a half foot weekly. The slippage has amounted to nearly five feet. The road was being constantly broken up in places, necessitating the dumping of 450 tons of asphaltic fill on the highway to fill in cracked portions of the cement.

The large landslide in Carbon canyon, five miles from Brea, is still on the move. This is not considered a hazard, however, for the soil is moving away from the highway there, rather than toward it, as in the case of the Galivan pass situation.

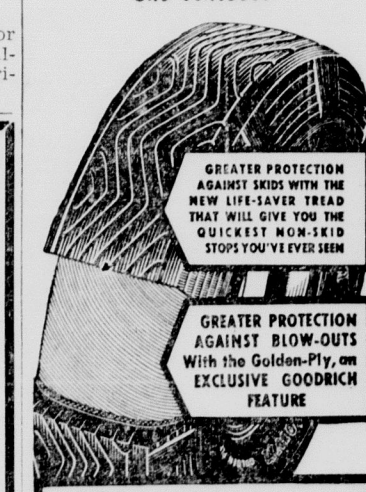

In the presence of moisture, cracks in concrete heal so tightly that the concrete may be stronger than before.

DON'T BUY ANY TIRE UNTIL YOU HAVE READ THIS IMPARTIAL REPORT BY FAMOUS LABORATORY

BOTH regular, and also the premium-priced tires of America were submitted to a series of exhaustive road tests made over a three months' period by us, to determine their resistance to skidding and wear, with the following results:

NON-SKID.—The new Goodrich Silvertown with the Life-Saver Tread gave greater skid resistance than any other tire tested, including those tires listed at from 40% to 70% higher in price.

MILEAGE.—The Goodrich Silvertown gave more non-skid mileage than any of the other tires tested in its own price range—averaged 19,150 more miles before the tires wore smooth.

BLOW-OUT PROTECTION.—Despite the severe nature of these tests, no Silvertown blew out, or failed from any cause, while two tires of other makes failed.

FITZGERALD'S RUBAIYAT . . .
"Awake! for Morning in the Bowl of Night
Has flung the stone that puts the stars to flight;
And lo! the Hunter of the East
Has caught the Sultan's turret in a noose of light."
First published translation of the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam into English was that of Edward FitzGerald, which left the presses on Feb. 15, 1859.

FitzGerald himself financed the deal, publishing the edition in brown wrappers - 250 in all - each containing only 75 quatrains. Copies were advertised for sale at one shilling each, but English readers evidently did not care for the Persian gems.
Dust collected on the FitzGerald translations which cluttered the shelves in the bookstore of B. Quaritch on Castle street, London. In desperation the proprietor slashed the price to 4d, then to the one-penny box (two cents American).

Here it was that the poet, Rossetti, found and bought a copy in 1860. Realizing the value of the translation, Rossetti showed it to friends and, overnight, a demand grew for the Rubaiyat.

Taxes In California

Patient Americans do a lot of talking about taxes, but pay them without effective protest.

Conversation principally concerns federal deficits, income taxes and the national debt.

Yet, the tax muddle within the borders of California is much more important to us, but little understood or appreciated.

For instance, of the total tax dollar collected in California for all purposes, only 23 cents goes to the federal government. Seventy-four per cent is collected and spent by the state government or one of the many thousands of local governmental units within the state that has the power to levy taxes.

The smaller units of government—the school districts, the counties, cities and the various districts—are usually efficiently operated. The taxpayer gets a run for his money in the agencies close to him, but the state government is an ever-growing, always-money-hungry organization the full extent of which no one man can fully appreciate.

It was only a few years ago that the state government was pretty well confined to the capitol building at Sacramento. But in recent times the process of building more and more massive structures in Sacramento has been almost continuous to house the always-expanding bureaus, agencies and departments of the state government. More than that, it has overflowed the restricted confines of Sacramento, and the state now maintains branch capitals in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Any private business run on the high, wide and handsome scale of the state government would be in the hands of the sheriff in short order, but the state unfortunately has the power to issue warrants in anticipation of taxes and, also, to build tax on tax.

Consider the new taxes that have been imposed on you, as a resident of California, in the last 10 years. Yet all these new taxes have been insufficient.

Contrasted with the California situation is Nevada, where the state government has been kept down to simple, old-fashioned fundamentals. The 110,000 square miles in our neighbor to the east has two-thirds the population of Orange county alone, yet it maintains a complete school system, a state university, state supreme court, highway department, penitentiary, state hospital and other essential agencies. No wonder many wealthy Californians have been driven across the state line to establish residence in a state that has no state income, no inheritance, no sales and no nuisance taxes—and no need for them.

This is election year. Campaigns are just getting under way. Now is the time for some one of the many candidates for governor to declare himself in favor of thrift in state government, for a reduction in the vast organization of tax collectors and tax spenders and to present a workable program toward that end. Tax-soaked Californians need such a candidate, and will support him, provided his qualifications and record measure up to standard.

A man in California was kicked by a dying mule, and St. Louis votes that the most annoying noise is a rooster's crow, and there certainly ought to be material for a Republican cartoonist in that pair of items.

Buddy Poppies

That season of the year has arrived when the Veterans of Foreign Wars are arranging for their sale of buddy poppies.

The V. F. W. is the first organization successfully to undertake and conduct a nation-wide poppy sale. The present plan of manufacture was developed in 1924, with temporary plans having been tried in 1922 and 1923.

All buddy poppies are identified by a copyrighted green label and are made by needy and disabled ex-service men in government hospitals through an arrangement with the veterans' administration.

This annual event is endorsed by the President of the United States and numerous organizations. The entire proceeds of the sale goes to the needy veterans and to maintain widows and orphans of soldiers.

The Orange county veterans and the auxiliary deserve the enthusiastic support of every citizen in this effort.

The Australian government is considering having at least one aboriginal man elected to its legislative body. We could lend them at least one, and with experience to boot.

Dumb Justice

Gossip from Washington, now more or less official through the medium of an article in Harper's magazine, is that Justice Hugo Lafayette Black of the supreme court definitely is inferior goods in the legal field.

His colleagues on the highest bench in the nation, who took no part whatsoever in the discussions that raged concerning his fitness as an appointee, now, it is reported, offer him no defense when his judicial qualifications are assailed.

The sad part of such a situation is that, good judge or bad judge, his appointment is for life. He may be impeached only on grounds touching his integrity.

The junior justice has caused his benefactor, President Roosevelt, more embarrassment than any president should expect from such an appointment.

And if all the Santa Ana Junior college students who fall asleep in class were laid end to end they'd be more comfortable.

Fair Enough

NEW YORK.—Well, maybe some of our public officials have run off at the lip a little too freely of late about the native American abhorrence of war and dictatorships, but Mussolini and Hitler should be the last men in the world to complain of that. They love to dish it, and anyone who makes a practice of dishing it must expect to take it in his turn.

Mussolini and Hitler have been making dirty cracks about us and Britain, France, Russia and Czechoslovakia for years.

It is written in Hitler's own creed, the Nazi bible, that the Italians, or, anyway, the southern complexioned and have short legs.
Italians, are a low race because they are dark-eyed and dark-Marriage between a blonde, blue-eyed, long-legged Nazi and an Italian of this description was condemned as something in the nature of miscegenation, or race defilement, on the ground that the Mediterranean races, which include many Italians, had a touch of the tar brush.

Rivals Once

There was rivalry between Mussolini and Hitler at the time. Mussolini personally despised Hitler as an imitator and had received a bad impression of Hitler when Adolf visited Rome to pick up ideas. They and their press—which, of course, speak their ideas and say nothing without permission—were sneering back and forth across Austria.

I was wondering what private thoughts old King Victor Emmanuel had when he met Hitler in Rome the other day, remembering what Hitler had said about the inferiority of short-legged and hook-nosed people, because the king is so short his feet barely reach the ground and his nose, as the pictures clearly show, has an elbow about four inches from the tip.

It Was Fierce

The dishing in Italy at the time the League of Nations voted the sanctions, or boycott, against Italy for a flat violation of an agreement sounded like the raging of a spoiled brat in a tantrum. Mussolini and his journalists insulted every statesman and every nation on the list of sanctionists, and I heard the Duce deliver one speech to a lot of poor, muddy peasants in which he stamped around exactly like a pampered little boy in a rage, and at times went off into screams. I never saw an orator make such a spectacle of himself.

During their recent childhood they got away with much offensive conduct for the same reason that unruly children are allowed to impose on the patience of their elders. They always talk war. Well, this country certainly doesn't want a war and isn't in shape for one, and it is ghastly to think that a lot of mouth might have such dreadful consequences.

What Other Editors Say

REPUGNANT

The refusal of certain police officers of Los Angeles to testify in the famous Raymond bombing case on the ground that it might in-criminate them, has attracted considerable attention in police and legal circles throughout the state, and the recent action of the senate interim committee, which is now in session at Los Angeles, to enter into a full investigation of the constitutional right of police officers to refuse to testify on matters pertaining to their official duties, with a view of introducing legislation at the next session of the legislature to remedy the situation, is being widely commended throughout the state.

The spectacle of a police officer being employed and receiving a regular salary, from a municipality to perform police work, and then refusing to testify up to demand of the district attorney, regarding matters pertaining to his official action, and directly in connection with the performance of his regular police work, on the ground that it might incriminate him, is so repugnant to the average taxpayer that the sooner the ridiculous situation is remedied, the better it will be for the peace loving people of California.

There is no department of public service more highly respected by the people than that of the department of police. But when an officer in the regular performance of duty, can withhold testimony regarding his official action, on constitutional grounds, and thus permit guilty persons to escape the penalty of the law, it places a premium on official dishonesty and makes a farce out of our much heralded police protection.—Los Angeles Republican.

UNCOMFORTABLE

One day in 1862, a friend called on President Lincoln at the White House and found him greatly dis-pressed.

"Well," said the visitor, "being president isn't all it's cracked up

"No," replied the president, "I feel like the Irishman who, after being ridden on a rail, said, 'If it wasn't for the honor of the thing,
I'd rather walk.'"

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—Long before the Harlan country trial opened in Kentucky this week, government officials preparing for the trial were being subjected to the same coercion which has dominated coal miners in bloody Harlan country for years.

In particular, Deputy Sheriff
Hickey, better known as Two-Gun Hickey, decided that he would put into practice some of Harlan's terrorism. So he immediately arrested George Gilbert, a most matterial government witness, on the charge of reckless use of firearms.
This immediately came to the attention of Brian McMahon, a quiet-spoken young assistant attorney general, who was sent by the justice department to take charge of the trial.

Purpose of Hickey's maneuver was obvious. It was an implied threat to all the witnesses to keep their mouths shut. To make sure it was understood, Hickey placed a chair on the veranda of the Hotel Lewallen, sat back and surveyed the road.

Soon up the road came Brian McMahon, who announced that if Hickey didn't clear out it would be just too bad for him.

Hickey disappeared. But next day federal agents discovered him in a room adjoining the one in which the government's witnesses were being questioned. When Mc-Mahon heard of this he confronted Hickey and said:

"I've told you several times to keep away from here. Now this is the last time. If I catch you around here again I'm going to give you the worst licking a man ever got.
Scram and stay scrambled."

"Two-Gun" Hickey slunk out of the hotel, his pistols flopping at his hips.

Canny Garner

Vice President Garner and Senator Fred Brown of New Hampshire, one-time National league star, bet $100 on a ball game the other day and Brown won. Garner paid off by check.

Several days later Brown came to him and said, "Jack, if I cash your check and get a one hundred dollar bill, will you autograph it for me?"

"Oh, I couldn't do that, Fred," Garner explained, "it's against the law to fake currency."

"But I'll take the bill out of circulation. I want to keep it as a memento."

"Well, in that event," replied Garner, grinning slyly, "why don't you just keep the check and not cash it? It amounts to the same thing if you aren't going to spend the money."

Note—Garner has made more than a dozen bets with congressional colleagues as to which day congress will adjourn. Their predictions range from June 1 to June 15, but Garner thinks it will be later.

nitions at Black Tom Island, N. J.,

The annual attack of spring cleaning, renovating and moving is just about over and home owners and housewives a. congratulate themselves on the convenience of a new stream-lined kitchen, up-to-date plumbing or, perhaps, modernistic furniture for the old living room.

How about the hygiene of these homes? No home is truly up-to-date unless it is hygienic and healthful, public health authorities point out. No home can make it up-to-date if that dangerous stair angle has been left unchanged. Modern furniture is not as important as proper illumination.

For the up-to-dateness of a home is more than convenience in cooking or the comfort of turning on a faucet to flood a tub with hot water. It is more than the possession of fine furniture and pictures on the walls. It is something bigger, greater, more important. It is this matter of hygiene or healthfulness.

This, unfortunately, is a phase of housing which many in the past have been inclined to overlook, chiefly because the matter has not been sufficiently brought home to them. Consequently those in charge of the medical and public health exhibits of the New York world's fair have planned to have a special exhibit on the health angle of housing. A committee of the American Public Health association, headed by Prof. C. E. A. Winslow of Yale university, has accepted the invitation of the fair's advisory committee on medicine and public health to prepare the subject matter for this exhibit.

The John B. Pierce foundation will sponsor the exhibit which is to occupy 70 square feet of space, according to the contract just signed.
At this exhibit visitors can learn the basic principles of healthful housing, including such matters as proper home temperatures, illumination, noise control, sanitation, and street and home safety. Other features of a home, such as facilities for recreation and social

Q—Is it unlawful for the owner, or any other person, employing eration of a vehicle upon a highway in any manner contrary to law?

A—Yes, according to Section 731 of the vehicle code.

Q—In what cases is the officer compelled to take the person arrested immediately before a magis-

I'LL TELL YOU.....

By BOB BURNS

A preacher friend of mine tells me that the people today have so many things on their minds that you have'ta make your sermons entertaining if you wanta bring 'em in.
I happened to think of Rev. Tweedle down home who couldn't get many people into his church on Sunday. One day he ran into an old man on the street who had never been to church and when Rev.
Tweedle asked him "why" the old man says, "I ain't got no pants." Rev. Tweedle gave the man a pair of pants and the man came for three straight Sundays and then didn't come any more.

When Rev. Tweedle saw him again he asked him why he hadn't
